

Regional Institute of English, Sector 32 Chandigarh

presents a webinar on

Teaching Listening Using Technology

Shri. Anil Sarwal
Resource Person

Sh. Anil Sarwal, Associate Professor, has been teaching English mainly at the graduate and post-graduate levels for four decades. He has visited over 25 countries in all the five continents on socio-educational and professional lecture tours. He has taken extension classes at the Panjab University and conducted training workshops for teachers and principals at the State Institute of Education, Chandigarh. He has authored two books and published more than 100 articles in the national newspapers on varied subjects including education, language, gender equality and travel.

Dr. Vandana Lunyal
Director

Teaching listening skills is generally not given enough priority and time in a language class. Despite the fact that it is extremely important to be a good listener for effective communication, listening is neglected.

Teaching listening can be made very interesting if we integrate technology into our teaching as the use of technology makes it more interesting and helps to increase the listening span of students.

Therefore this webinar especially focuses on helping teachers by using technology to promote listening skills.

CLICK HERE FOR REGISTRATION

Date: 17th September, 2020

Time: 01:00 p.m

Platform: Zoom

Click here to enter the webinar

Meeting ID: 88460031716
Passcode:022221

Convener: Dr. Vandana Lunyal, Director
Coordinator: Dr. Jyoti Singh, Associate Professor